TWO ARMY FLIERS DIE IN FLAMES

Our Town

By J. B. White

A public statement of the National Retail Dry Goods Association quotes Albert M. Post, chairman of its merchandising division, as saying that "there has been no falling off in the movement toward recovery in the retail trade. From what I can judge, the trend of business will continue definitely upward in the fall. But," he continued, and with emphasis, "I believe that retail trade will have to await the recovery of other industries and not expect to achieve a prosperity era in distribution overnight."

Mr. Post, who also is merchandising manager of one of Chicago's largest retail organizations, indicated that this topic would feature the program of the merchandising division in New York June 20 and 21. His announcement, issued after careful survey of the association membership in all parts of the country, appears to constitute a neffective answer to the question of whether the National Recovery Administration is looking after the interests of the consumer. As the attitude of the public toward the President's recovery program and his admonition to hold down prices affects the quotations by the retailer, so the retailer affects the quotations of the wholesaler and the manufacturer.

In declaring that as of May 19 "mark-ups are on a lower level", Mr. Post declared that "the law of diminishing returns seems to indicate that a lower initial mark-up will provide better net profit." As to which the June meeting is designated to make assurance doubly sure.

Farmer Found Dead in Yard

Edward Schiller, 52, was found dead in the yard of his home near Yarrellton Tuesday night about 8 o'clock. Near the body was a pistol with one shell freshly discharged.

A verdict of suicide was rendered by Judge O. C. Nolte of Ben Arnold, Justice of Peace for Precinct 7.

Mr. Schiller had lived on his farm there for 50 years. It was said by members of the family that he had not suffered any decline of health and no reason can be assigned for his act. He had been in Cameron Tuesday morning attending to business.

Funeral services were held at the home at 2 p. m. Wednesday with Rev. Horak of Caldwell, pastor of the Moravian Brethren church officiating, and the Leland Green Funeral Home in charge.

He is survived by his widow and three children, Miss Olga Schiller, two sons, Jero and Gerald Schiller, all of whom reside at home.

GEORGE MARSHALL, 87, DIES AT HOME HERE

George Marshall, 87, pioneer resident, died at his Cameron home Wednesday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock. He had been in declining health for several months.

The funeral will be held Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the First Methodist Church with Rev. W. L. Cannan, reading the rites. The body will be buried in Oak Hill cemetery.

Green & Boedeker Launch New Firm Here Friday

History is being made this week in Cameron in the field of merchandising.

Interest centers about the opening on Friday June 1 of the Green & Boedeker Grocery, Market and Hardware store and the completion of the Leland Green Funeral Home.

All of these departments in the business are housed in the Chambers building across from the Postoffice. The new firm represents the merging of the Green & Boedeker Food Store and the undertaking business formerly owned and operated by C. N. Green & Bro., and in addition a complete stock of hardware.

Leland Green was formerly with the C. N. Green & Bro. store and will have charge of the hardware and funeral home and Leland Green, Jr. and Herman Boedeker will direct the food store, one of the most modern and convenient in this section of Texas.

Each day brings in new shipments of hardware and goods for the store. The opening is to be celebrated with special prices being offered in both the grocery and hardware departments. In this issue of the local papers will be found the announcement for the grand opening.

The north half of the building is taken by the cash food store. The south half is given over to other hardware and undertaking business. The funeral home just completed is exclusive and quiet, being removed from any other department. The chapel is well appointed and finely furnished. The casket room is being completed with its displays. Ambulance (See NEW FIRM on last page)

SHIP GOES DOWN IN FIELD

Two army fliers stunting over a corn field near Yarrellton, six miles west of Cameron, were instantly killed at 4:30 Wednesday afternoon and their bodies burned into a crisp when their plane crashed to earth and burst into flame.

The dead are Private Byron K. Newcomb, 42, and Private Marlin S. McCready, 25, both of the 52nd school squadron at Randolph Field, San Antonio. The army reported that Newcomb was a former air mail pilot.

The plane was flying low and the men did not have time to bail out. The men were stunting and apparently were maneuvering the difficult hedge hopping flight, a part of the schooling.

R. F. Hurry, plowing in the field, said the plane fell within 75 yards of his plow. It exploded and burst into flames as it struck the earth. The engine was embedded two feet in the earth. The men are believed to have been killed instantly. Flames from the burning ship shot 30 feet in air and no rescue could be made. The bodies were burned beyond recognition.

The bodies were brought to Cameron. An army ambulance came Wednesday night and took the dead fliers to San Antonio. The burned ship was loaded aboard an army truck and carried to San Antonio Thursday morning.

Personal effects of the men were gathered by the Sheriff's office and identification was given the army. A watch worn by one of the men stopped at 4:28.

CANNING HOME FOODS

By BERTHA FAE STRANGE

Home Demonstration Agent, Milam County

The interest in canning and in food preservation has brought about many question and problems concerning canning in glass jars.

Successful canning depends primarily on a knowledge of the rapid spoilage of fresh food and a knowledge of preventing this spoilage.

As a method of preservation the water bath is recommended for fruit, tomatoes, tomato and fruit juice, sweet pepper and pimiento pepper, and pickled beets. For non acid vegetables and meats the pressure cooker or canner is recommended.

The following problems in regard to canning in glass jars may be helpful in improving the quality of home canned products.

1. White deposits in beets, pickles, etc., indicate use of hard water or table salt.

2. Peas turn cloudy because they were not graded properly, not blanched sufficiently, too old, seasoned with table salt, or because of mineral in water.

3. Dark brown products usually indicate overcooking.

4. Liquids cooking out of products during processing in glass jars may be due to filling jars too full, varying pressure during cooking, or releasing steam after removing from fire stove.

LOWER INTEREST RATES FOR FARM CROP LOANS

Lesser Newton, Secretary-Treasurer of the Bryan Production Credit Association has just received word from Governor W. I. Meyers of the Farm Credit Administration in Washington, D. C. that the interest rate on new loans from credit production credit associations has been reduced from 5 1-5 to 5 per cent.

According to Mr. Newton the new 5 per cent rate becomes effective immediately on all new loans and advances made by the association and will be applicable until further notice.

"The new interest rate of 5 per cent will not affect loans already advanced in full," Mr. Newton said. "These will continue to bear the rate of interest prevailing at the time the loan was closed. The interest charges on loans from associations are collected when the loan matures. The Bryan association is now making loans on acceptable crop and chattel security to farmers in Milam, Robertson, Burleson, Brazos, Madison and Grimes counties.

"The reduction of the interest rate to 5 per cent on new loans is made possible by a recent sale of federal intermediate Credit Bank debentures to investors at an unusually low rate of interest. The association gets money to lend farmers from the federal intermediate credit bank of Houston."

The lowering of the interest rate on new loans to 5 per cent is the second reduction in two months, the rate having been reduced from 6 to 5 1-2 on March 16th.

According to Governor Meyers, said Mr. Newton, "The Federal intermediate Credit Bank is passing on immediately to farmer-borrowers from production credit associations the saving made possible by lower cost of getting money. The confidence of investors in the security of the intermediate credit banks has been such that the banks are able to get money to lend at the lowest discount rate in their history. Governor Meyers says that the resulting low rate of interest on production credit association loans is enabling farmer borrowers to save thousands of dollars on the cost of their farming operations this year. If the associations make sound loans, and loans that are collectable, an adequate supply of low cost money will continue to be available.

to his aged father, M. L. Fikes. He was born and reared in Milam county. At the age of 18 he suffered an attack of rheumatism which left him a cripple. He made his way about by crutches but his spirit overcame these handicaps. He asked for nothing except opportunity. He lived on his farm and worked. He did much of it from a buggy to which was hitched his trained horse. On a slide he helped to gather the harvest. By reason of his strong will, he had endeavored himself to many. He made friends and ten years ago he was elected county treasurer. He had served well and the people have lost a faithful and efficient servant.

He had never married. At the time of his death he was living in the home of his brother. He was a member of the Baptist church but due to his physical handicap did not take active part in civic affairs.

Funeral services were held at the North Elm Baptist church Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, with Rev. N. D. Lynnerman of the First Baptist Church, Cameron, officiating. Interment was made in North Elm Cemetery with Leland Green Funeral Home in charge of arrangements. The funeral was attended by hundreds from all sections of the county.

Pall bearers were: Roy Law, W. A. Bonds, Penn Wolf, L. L. Blaylock, Homer Nabours and H. B. McClellan.

Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Gohmert and family have returned from a visit with relatives in Brookshire.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Slaughter and family recently visited their daughter, Mrs. R. F. Bieldefeldt and husband in Wichita Falls. They were accompanied by his mother, Mrs. William Bieldefeldt of Waco.

Lady Says She Took CARDUI for Cramps; Was Soon Relieved

Women who suffer as she did will be interested in the experience of Mrs. Maude Crafton, of Belleville, Ill., who writes: "For several years, I suffered from irregular trouble and cramping. There would be days when I would have to stay in bed. I would get so nervous, I was miserable. My aunt told me to try Cardui. She believed it would build me up, regulate me and help the nervous trouble. I knew after taking half a bottle of Cardui that I was better. I kept on taking Cardui and found it was doing me a world of good. I am in good health, which means a lot to me." . . . Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. (Continued from page 1)

he seeks. In preparation for his business record he attended school and there took a course in bookkeeping and general business advantage. This fact coupled with his 12 years of actual experience in business matters, he feels gives him the necessary equipment to serve the people well.

Mr. Howard's family is an old Texas family. His late grandfather, Rev. J. D. Shelton, lived at Rockdale and was in addition to being a minister, a pioneer surveyor. Except for a few years when his family lived in Falls county, he has been a resident of Cameron and now resides in the Salem Community where he has a home.

If elected to this responsible place, Mr. Howard would be able to transact the business of the office without the necessity of employing additional help. He could and would personally do all the work required in the office.

He has always been a Democrat, and is asking for this nomination as a Democrat. He made his official announcement from the platform on Tuesday night at San Gabriel and will speak to the voters at Gause on Friday night of this week.

Mr. Howard is asking for this office because he feels he needs the employment and because he knows he can serve the people well. As an employee in the merchandising field for a number of years he has had wide experience in meeting and dealing with the people. In this way he has gained much valuable experience and has met and made many friends who will receive his announcement with much interest in all sections of the county.

Mr. Howard submits his candidacy based upon his qualifications to serve the people efficiently and pledges an honest administration of the affairs of the office and will greatly appreciate your vote and support.

on and in other ways has rounded out a successful and profitable experience that is now made available to the people of this county in this office. He submits to the people of the county his record as a business man and as a citizen in the county.

Mr. Eanes made his official announcement on Tuesday night from the speakers platform at the Democratic rally in San Gabriel. Since he became a candidate for this important office, he has received much encouragement from all section of the county. He plans to make an active canvass of the voters and asks his friends to lend their support to his candidacy.

If elected to this office, Mr. Eanes would be able to bring to its administration an efficient program of service. Well qualified by reason of his business experience, he would be able to transact the business of the office without additional help and would thus render a personal and efficient and economical service.

Mr. Eanes believes that places of responsibility should be supplied by men who are qualified. His many friends point out that he possesses to an extraordinary degree the qualifications necessary in this place and that his election would bring to the service of the county government one who could and would serve well.

By reason of his experience, Mr.

Eanes has had an opportunity to know the important elements of meeting and dealing with the people. He knows what will be required of him in this office and his business career has equipped him well for the place. He knows many people and his life as a citizen commends him to the favorable consideration of the people. He feels he needs the office and is asking the people to elect him to the place for this, and the additional good reason that he is qualified and desires to serve.

Mr. Eanes, though making his announcement later than is customary for county candidates, has already visited many sections of the county. He declares response to his candidacy has been most encouraging and that he is grateful to the many who have pledged their support. If elected he pledges himself to a service of economy and efficiency and will pay back to the people in terms of service the obligation he would owe to them in consideration for this office.

Manse Jolly, Southern Soldier Left Record As Fighter and Scout; Further Accounts of His Exploits; Lies Buried at Little River

This is the final installment of the exploits of Manse Jolly of Anderson county, South Carolina, whose body lies buried in Little River Cemetery. He was drowned in Walker's Creek near Magee's crossing along in 1969.

This last account of his remarkable career comes from the Anderson Independent and the writer gathers the data from first hand account.

About a month ago I was on the northbound train out from Atlanta, Ga. In consequence of a heavy rain-fall the train was delayed for some time on account of a washout, and while waiting for the repairs to be made on the track I was drawn into conversation with two excellent gentlemen from South Carolina. One was Dr. W. B. Millwee from Greenwood, the other gentleman was from Ridge Spring and I have forgotten his name. It was while carrying on a general conversation that the subject of this sketch, Manse Jolly, was brought up. Dr. Millwee asked me if I had ever heard of Manse Jolly, the celebrated bushwhacker of Anderson county. After assuring him in the negative and expressing a great desire to hear something of the exploits, the genial doctor proceeded to give a synopsis of some of the important events in the life of Manse Jolly, and the causes that led up to his being outlawed by the Federal government and a price of ten thousand dollars set on his head.

When the late war broke out Manse Jolly was one of the first to volunteer and spent the four dreadful years fighting for the lost cause. He was a high toned, educated gentleman, was noted for his bravery and daring, and from the fact that he and his cream white charger, "Old Ironsides," went through the fiery ordeal together and never received a scratch or lost one single day from any cause.

When hostilities ceased Jolly rode his faithful old mount from Virginia back to his farm in Anderson county, and proceeded to make the best of a bad bargain, and to bring order out of chaos, for his farm had been neglected, and everything was in a bad way. Being an industrious and thrifty man he soon had everything alright once more.

Now, there was a regiment of negro soldiers stationed at Anderson court house and this regiment was somewhat of a sticker for Jolly. He could not reconcile himself to this, but he attended to his business and said nothing.

About the time Jolly got settled down to every day life he was sent for by an old and intimate friend, and told that all his silverware and money had been stolen by some of the recently freed slaves and requested Jolly to help him recover his property. Having had the ring leader of the robbery pointed out to him Jolly braced him single handed, took him into a piece of woods, buckled him face in to a tree and with the aid of a raw hide soon made the negro squeal and tell where all the stuff could be found. The goods were returned to their owner, and Jolly went back to his farm. But the negro went to the Colonel of the coon regiment and charged Jolly with intent to murder. The colonel sent two mounted sons of Ham to the Jolly farm with instructions to bring the owner of said farm back to headquarters to answer the preferred charge. What became of the coons will never be known. At any rate Jolly had the two horses they rode hitched to a plow next day, working right along as if nothing had happened.

The colonel next sent four trusty men to effect the capture of Jolly but Manse had friends, and the four soldiers went the way of the two and Manse confiscated their horses.

When the fate of the last four became known a price was set upon Jolly's head. The colonel did not depute any more men to arrest him; he chose other tactics to get Jolly within his clutches. Several months thereafter an entire company rode up to a little country church where Manse was attending worship. They first secured his horse, and then all advanced to the church door. But Jolly got wind of the movement, bolted for the pulpit and jumped from a window just as a volley was fired at him over the heads of the worshippers. Jolly had to go without his beloved horse, but it is said he dropped a man or two before he got out of rifle range.

Jolly was sore over the loss of his horse, and forthwith made up his mind to recover him, and this fact is almost beyond belief, and is the most remarkable thing in the career of this remarkable man. Jolly went to his farm, mounted one of his contraband plugs and rode into Anderson next day and went right through the lines, and dismounted in front of the hotel, the colonel's headquarters, and asked to be shown to the colonel's room, which was done. The hotel people knew Jolly to be a brave man, but his actions dumbfounded them. Jolly went right into the room, saluted and said: "Colonel Whitehead, I presume? My name is Manse Jolly, I was attacked at church yesterday by a company of your men and my horse was stolen. I want a written order from you for the return of my horse at once. If you do not accede to my request, I'll kill you right where you are sitting, and a good many of your soldiers will bite the dust before sundown to-day."

All this time Jolly was fondling a

Bus That Plunged Four to Deaths

Here is a view of the Greyhound bus which plunged through the wall of an overpass three miles west of Cisco, Texas, taking four to their deaths on the railroad tracks below. The unusual photo was taken from the point on the overpass where the bus went through, and shows the 40-foot drop which burst the bus into pieces. The driver said he believed the steering gear of the giant car broke, and that he could do nothing to stop its deadly plunge. (Texas News) huge and murderous looking revolver.

The Mayor of Anderson who happened to be in the room at the time told Dr. Millwee that Colonel Whitehead was almost paralyzed with fear and had to take a good stiff drink of cognac before he could recover his speech. He soon regained himself, however, and assured Mr. Jolly that nothing would give him more pleasure than to see that he recovered his horse. A messenger was dispatched, and while he was gone Colonel Whitehead granted Jolly unconditional amnesty, and gave orders that he was not to be molested in the future.

Everything went along alright for a while, but Manse got mixed up another beating scrape, was reported, refused to be arrested, killed one or two soldiers, was again outlawed and a reward of ten thousand dollars was offered for his capture.

Jolly then took a confederate in with him and together they went to bushwhacking right. One of their pet schemes was to waylay big army foraging wagons when they could catch them returning to camp with provisions. Sometimes there would be as many as ten horses taken in this way, together with the contents of the wagon. They worked this racket successfully three or four times and it netted them several thousand dollars.

On one occasion Jolly and his confederate were galloping along a road near Anderson and suddenly ran up on two officers at a blacksmith shop having their horses shod. The officers did not know the men. Jolly and his partner drew rein, engaged the officers in conversation, and after chatting for half an hour suddenly ordered both men to throw up their hands. He disarmed them and took their horses when the blacksmith had finished with them. The officers were then commanded to about face and get a hump on themselves or camp. The officers' horses and side arms were then piloted across the country to Jolly's farm.

Sometime after this occurrence a company of men was sent to Jolly's home to take him dead or alive. After reaching the house and surrounding it a detail of twenty men were met at the door by Jolly's maiden sister, a stout, well built and healthy woman of about thirty-five summers. She told the officer in charge of the men that her brother was not at home, but if they insisted upon it she

LONG HERDING JOB TO END THIS YEAR

Canada Moving Herd of 2,500 Deer to Feed Eskimos.

Ottawa.—The longest and toughest "herding" job in history, a "drive" of 2,500 reindeer along the Arctic coast from Alaska to new grazing grounds at the mouth of the Mackenzie river, is to be completed by Christmas, the Department of the Interior has just been advised.

A dozen herders undertook the task at Christmas time of 1929, and expected to complete it in two years. At Christmas of this year, the time now set for the completion of the icy journey, the time spent will have been a full five years. The trek began from the Buckland river valley, Alaska.

Purchased by the Canadian government from the Lomer Bros. corporation in Alaska, the herd is being moved to its new home to supply food and skins for the Eskimo population which numbers about 4,000. Native game is becoming scarce.

The reindeer herders, according to departmental accounts, have put in four and one-half exacting and exciting years in marshaling their charges. They have had to fight off wolves which constantly have attacked the herd; they have had to contend with sickness and accidents among their own numbers as well as in the deer herd; they have had to foot it through icy wilderness and tangled scrub, over glare ice and treacherous snow hummocks. And, most provoking perhaps of all handicaps, they have had to contend with the homing instincts of the animals, and their repeated tactics of doubling back on their tracks.

The first year's efforts demonstrated that progress had to be discontinued from March to November because of the fawning season and impossibility of the youngsters navigating swollen rivers. This year the herd and herders got within 70 miles of their goal, when it was planned to push ahead day and night and put an end to the job. Blizzards, however, swept the ice bare of snow and the animals could not get footing; finally the whole herd stamped back to Shingle Point after a score of miles of progress.

So the herders and their proteges are going to summer at Shingle Point and about December 1 commence the final dash to their objective. If things go well all will eat their Christmas dinner at their new home.

English Woman Walking Around World on a Bet

Montreal.—Mrs. W. Chaworth-Musters, widow of a British ship captain, who is walking around the world with out money on a bet, arrived here recently on her way across Canada and the United States.

She already has walked round England, and after a short stay here she proposes going to New York by rail and walking from there to Chicago and out to the coast.

Her itinerary will take her across the United States and Canada in easy stages, then south to Mexico and South America, across to Honolulu and onward through the Far East, India, Africa, and Europe.

Under the terms of her wager, her stay at any place is limited to 12 days. There is a clause which stipulates that "hospitality, transport over land and sea, food and lodging can be offered and accepted and when desired reasonable services can be rendered in exchange." The wager is for $2,500.

Onion Skin Wine Loses Its French Copyright

Montpellier, France.—After weeks of deliberation the court of Montpellier has handed down a decision in a suit over "onion skin," a popular skin of wine.

"Pelure d'ouion" takes its name from the color of the wine after it has been aged, a tint resembling that of the outer skin of an onion.

For hundreds of years Frenchmen have been producing and drinking "onion skin" wine in various parts of southern France. Recently one grower hit upon the idea of copyrighting the name. The copyright was accepted, whereupon the grower sued a neighbor, also a producer of "onion skin" wine, for infringement of his trade mark.

The neighbor contended that onion skin is a type of wine and not a particular vintage. The court upheld his contention.

Feeds Six Ducks; Brings Thousands

Winnipeg.—Raids of swarms of wild ducks, estimated to number at least 3,000, are causing great trouble to farmers in the vicinity of Rocky Mountain House, Alberta.

Lacking sufficient natural feed, owing to unusual conditions in the five-mile area of spring-fed marsh at the heads of Raven and Clear creeks, they are ravaging farmers' barnyards and stealing food laid out for cattle and poultry.

This situation is confirmation of the Biblical prophecy that bread cast upon the waters shall come back several-fold. Seven years ago a farmer, one Budden, fed three pairs of wild ducks over winter. Next year a larger flock came back to the vicinity and the number has increased each year, indicating that news has a way of getting around in birdland.

This is the New Mower the Crowds Admired at A Century of Progress Last Year

Come in and go over the entire mower. You'll agree that you have never seen anything like it.

McCormick-Deering No. 7 Enclosed-Gear Mower

WE are anxious to have all of our friends see the New McCormick-Deering No. 7 Enclosed-Gear Mower. We think it is one of the finest pieces of farm equipment we have ever sold!

Everybody who has seen it says they never had any idea that a mower could be built as this one is.

For example: The entire operating mechanism, including drive gears, differential, and countershafts, is assembled compactly in an oil-tight gear housing and runs in a bath of oil. There are four high-grade roller bearings. Operation is so smooth and noiseless that you can scarcely hear the light hum of the sickle!

Special oil seals at the ends of the main axle and fly-wheel shaft, and the oil-tight gear box prevent leakage and protect all working parts against the entrance of dirt and other abrasive materials. Floating action of cutter bar provides ample play without disturbing knife registration.

Tax Increases Fuel Cost Four Times As Much As Code Prices, Federal Trade Report Reveals

Charts show amount of gasoline dollar absorbed by taxes; average yearly retail prices of gasoline in 50 cities; and average yearly state and federal gasoline taxes.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — State and federal taxes have increased the cost of gasoline to the consumer more than four times as much as have price advances under the NRA, the Federal Trade Commission has informed the United States Senate.

Replying to a Senate inquiry as to what increased gasoline prices mean to consumers in the way of additional costs, the Commission reported that while prices advanced 2c per gallon under the Oil Code between July 1, 1933 and January 31, 1934, subsequent price declines made the average net increase only about 1c per gallon.

The increase in cost to consumers was placed at $160,000,000 annually as compared with state and federal taxes averaging 5.14c per gallon and costing $700,000,000 annually.

The Commission explained that the Consumers' Advisory Board had estimated the increased cost to consumers due to price advances at $644,000,000.

The report disclosed that while the average estimated increase in cost to consumers in all states was only 1.04c per gallon between July 1, 1933 and January 31, 1934, the average state and federal tax paid by the consumer increased from zero at the beginning of 1919 to more than 5c per gallon on February 1, 1934.

Quoting gasoline prices through the years, the Commission presented data from 50 representative cities indicating that while the average cost of gasoline to the consumer declined 27 per cent between July 1, 1926 and July 1, 1933, taxes increased about 134 per cent.

TINY THINGS ODD FAD OF COLLECTOR

Microscopic Items Gathered by Seattle Man.

Seattle.—A verse from the Bible, containing 127 letters, written on a space of glass the size of a pin point and visible only with the aid of a microscope.

A hollow hazelnut containing 3,100 silver spoons.

A grain of rice engraved with 52 Japanese characters.

A seed half as large as your little finger nail containing 83 perfectly carved ivory elephants, visible only with the aid of a magnifying glass.

A one-thousandth-of-a-watt electric light globe that actually lights.

A motorcycle that runs with the aid of an electric motor and putt-putts like a real machine, yet so small that it may be hidden with the hand.

These are only a few of the 300-odd illutopian items in the unique collection of Jules Charbneau of this city.

For 33 years Charbneau has been acquiring tiny things. His original acquisition was a 3-inch umbrella, which he obtained at the Paris exposition in 1900.

Most of his collection has been obtained on his three trips around the world. An insurance man by profession, he had perhaps half a hundred microscopic items in his collection when he took his first world jaunt. Since that time the collection has grown rapidly and Charbneau expects to add to it greatly next year when he starts a two-year world journey.

The collector believes he possesses the tiniest object ever made by human hands in the piece of glass containing the Biblical verse. He obtained the article from a friend, a New York business man whose hobby is the printing of minute characters. The words were cut with a diamond point.

Charbneau believes artists and artisans have lavished some of their best work upon miniature objects in a whimsical and oftentimes humorous way.

The collector says the hazelnut originally contained 5,000 spoons, but that nearly 2,000 have been lost through frequent handling.

Pheasant, Given Shelter, Turns "Dog in Manger"

McKean, Pa.—A cock pheasant that was allowed by Robert Meeker, of McKean, to stay in his chicken house repaid the kindness shown to him by fighting and nearly killing 30 White Leghorn cockerels. Mr. Meeker had found the pheasant in the chicken yard when the weather was 30 degrees below zero and gave the bird shelter in a chicken house where he had penned up 30 Leghorn roosters.

He was worried for fear the wild bird would be set upon by the cockerels. His fear was groundless. After the first day the pheasant was boss of the coop and before the end of a week it had assumed a dog in the manager attitude, refusing to allow the chickens to eat until he himself had all he wanted. The cold spell and Mr. Meeker's patience ending about the same time, the cock pheasant was driven out, and again peace reigns among the Leghorn roosters.

Inventory Helps Refit Valley Forge House

Valley Forge, Pa.—Guided by an inventory found by Albert Cook Myers, which lists the furniture of the home at the time George Washington occupied it, the Valley Forge park commission has refurnished the historic structure here.

The first President rented the little green and white shuttered house from Isaac Potts, a young clergyman, for six months in 1777.

The residence was erected in 1758 and was the most pretentious of any in the vicinity at the time. It was restored to its original condition as nearly as possible in 1887. The commission says that the home now looks exactly as it did when Washington lived in it.

Dervishes Attack Film Actors

Istanbul.—The film industry in Turkey had a most inauspicious debut at the holy village of Eyoub on the Golden Horn at Istanbul. Enraged by the "unholy" make-up on the faces of the actors and the operations of the camera men, a group of Bekdashli dervishes attacked the company. They were pacified without any serious casualties.

Beware of Blondes!

They Murder Most London.—Gentlemen may prefer them, according to Anita Loos, but a British amateur criminologist asserts that blondes are more murderous than brunettes.

Paradoxically enough, however, Gilbert A. Fenn, who also adds penology to his hobbies, estimates that brunettes are more criminally minded. In support of this, he points to the increase of crime in the big cities, and a corresponding increase in the number of persons who possess dark hair.

It had been thought, until comparatively recently, that the greater number of suicides occurred among the fair-headed. However, according to French Psychologist Duval, brunettes, when they take to killing, kill themselves. Whereas, he says, blondes tend more toward homicide.

HOUSE PARTY

An enjoyable house party was given by Mrs. George Childress this week.

Twelve women who were schoolmates of Mrs. George Childress at Wills Point, were the personnel of the group. Guests arrived Thursday afternoon and were special guests for an evening at the Childress home.

The home was decorated with cut flowers, roses and evergreens. The spacious lawn was in attractive setting where colored electric lights added beauty, but owing to a severe downpour of rain at dark, guests assembled inside and were greeted by callers. A colored orchestra furnished old time melodies and modern pep music during the evening.

The guests were recipients of many social courtesies while here. Friday afternoon the As You Like It Club was host to a party at the home of Mrs. Tom Denson. Saturday Mrs. R. H. McIntosh entertained with a midday luncheon. That afternoon Mrs. A. J. Trigg was hostess to a four o'clock tea. Saturday evening a business meeting was held in the Childress home.

The entire party occupied special pews at the First Methodist church Sunday morning. That evening Mr. and Mrs. George Childress, Jr. honored them with a six o'clock dinner.

One by one the guests departed Monday and Tuesday for their respective homes. Mrs. Childress, the hostess, accompanied two of her guests to Wills Point, her old home, for a few days visit, going by way of Marshall where they visited old friends for a day.

The meetings are annual and have been held for a number of years. This event was declared by the guests to have been one of their most delightful.

After golf or tennis, you'll find me most refreshing.

199^{per cent} INCREASE

AND LEADERSHIP

1934

The Popularity of the New V-8 for 1934 has given the Ford Motor Co. an increase in business of 199% for the first four months of 1934.

REMEMBER, Too—That Ford has manufactured, sold and delivered and registered more cars than any other manufacturer.

2 Billion Miles

Last year over 265,000 Ford owners drove over two billion miles without a penny for repairs of any kind. Average gasoline mileage was 15 to 20 miles per gallon, and very few added oil between 1,000 mile changes. These figures are compiled from voluntary statements made by FORD owners in every part of the United States . . . the people who actually KNOW and give unbiased opinions.

NOW---1934

The New V-8 for 1934 with its many improvements assures still greater economy. Aluminum cylinder heads, down draft carburetors, and other improvements have added much to an already fine car. In addition you get FOUR wheel freedom, and more power and more speed. DRIVE THE V-8 AND KNOW FOR YOURSELF.

Feels a Lot Better When Black-Draught Relieves Constipation

From many states come reports like the following from Mr. W. M. Henderson, of Jasper, Fla.: "I have been taking Thedford's Black-Draught twenty years. I take it for constipation that gives me a dull, tired, aching feeling, and I have headache, too. Black-Draught relieves me of this trouble. After a few doses, I feel as good as new. I keep it in my home. I have a big family. When one of us is ailing (from constipation), we take Black-Draught and almost always feel a lot better. It has been worth its weight in gold to my family." ... Sold in 25¢ packages. "Children like the Syrup."

GAS COMPANY TO GIVE AWARDS FOR ESSAYS

Customers of the local gas company are giving an opportunity to win some handsome gas kitchen appliances in an essay contest launched throughout the territory served by companies in the Lone Star Gas System. Announcement of the contest was made today in advertisements appearing in many newspapers.

GRADUATE SERMON GIVEN BY DR. MORRO

The Baccalaureate sermon for the closing activities of Yoe High school was given Sunday evening May 20 at the First Methodist church by Dr. W. C. Morro, of Texas Christian University at Fort Worth, taking for his subject: "Real Life."

As has been the custom for many years, the class gathered at the home of Judge and Mrs. Jeff T. Kemp at early twilight and enjoyed a social hour. Miss Blanche Hensley presided over the punch bowl and served the graduates.

Promptly at eight o'clock the students marched into the church and were seated in ribbon bowed seats. Miss Katherine Mode was at the organ and gave the march number.

The church was packed to seating capacity, many coming from out of town.

Mr. and Mrs. Niley Smith will spend a few days near Kerrville this week and will be accompanied home by their son, who has been in school there the past term.

Miss Margueret Meekins of Trinity will arrive Friday and be at the home of Mrs. Lena Baskin, and will be a member of the wedding party of the Baskin-DeWitt wedding.

Dressing Up Pantry With Attractive Packs Success

"Dressing up the Pantry" with attractive packs of relishes from the garden plot is another way of improving the quality and appearance of the home pantry, according to Mrs. Frank Barker, pantry demonstrator for the Duncan club.

Particular attention is called to the use of a good grade of vegetables, vinegar and spices. Vinegar which is too strong should be diluted. Often a white vinegar, which prevents the discoloration of the relish, is preferred. Spices should be bought new each year.

The following suggestions as to the use of beets in a beet relish may give variation for the use of this vegetable. For one quart of beets diced, add two small onions and three seeded red bell peppers, cut fine; three-fourths cup sugar, two teaspoons salt, one-third cup prepared horse-radish and two cups vinegar. For hot relish two small pods of Mexican chili pepper is added. This mixture simmered until clear. Pack in sterilized jars and seal.

Miss Sue Griffin Webb of Morehead City, N. C. is here for the wedding of Miss Dinks Baskin and Gill DeWitt Monday June 4, and will be a member of the bridal party.
